

Chilliwack Employment Lawyer

Chilliwack Employment Lawyer - Our Labour & Employment Law group represents and advises clients in both the public and private sectors before administrative tribunals as well as in issues of labour litigation before all levels of the courts. We participate in the drafting of employment agreements, and assist clients in the negotiation and drafting of collective agreements.

We have extensive skill in the several employment laws and regulations, consisting of employment benefits and rights, sexual harassment, wrongful dismissal, accommodation of disabilities, health and safety standards and human rights. Our members work together with our clients during the process of dispute resolution, and by participating in negotiation, arbitration, conciliation and mediation.