

Immigration Law Firms Chilliwack

Immigration Law Firms Chilliwack - Labour problems and legal disputes with employers are challenging and stressful experiences. Our employment lawyers represent clients who are subject to unfair, unethical or illegal labour practices, such as sexual harassment, discrimination, defamation or wrongful dismissal. Difficulties with an employer are often life changing and emotional events, and our employment law experts are here so as to help you navigate the complexities of employment law with sensitivity and professionalism.

If you believe your labour complaint falls within the legal boundaries of unfair labour practices, it is important that you call our company. We would help you determine if the circumstances violate your legal rights. Numerous complaints regarding labour law are tough to prove; therefore, it is important for you to know your legal rights. For example, to legally terminate your employment, employers should have just cause and provide you with reasonable notice. Your employer should provide you a reasonable severance package based on the amount of time that you have worked for the company, your age, and the reason you were terminated. If you believe you have been wrongfully dismissed, get in touch with our employment law lawyers so we can discuss the matter with you. If have been the victim of unfair labour practices, we can act in your best interests in any action taken versus your former employer.

There are several various clients which come to our firm for assistance for matters pertaining to wrongful dismissal, severance packages, employment contracts, health, safety and human rights (consisting of discrimination and sexual harassment), defamation and worker's compensation. We can help with any of these legal issues or other challenges that might take place between your employer and you.

Labour laws are complicated, and it is important that you do not face the Labour Board alone and unprepared. Our skilled employment law lawyers understand your rights and would work so as to protect those rights. If litigation is unavoidable, we will aggressively defend your rights during legal procedures.