

Chilliwack Family Law

Chilliwack Family Law - A lot of emotional stress can be the result of a family breakup. In this nation, family law consists of several various pieces and parts of legislation. Our family law lawyer will navigate the complexities of family law for you, and help you to be able to understand the relevant legislation as it applies to your specific situation.

Our goal is to be able to reach amicable solutions while preventing the high costs associated with the court process. Nevertheless, occasionally negotiations do not achieve the desired outcome. If it becomes required, we would help you through every stage of the court process so as to reach the best possible outcome.

Our assistance extend into the areas related to the preparation of marriage contracts and cohabitation agreements, divorce (uncontested or contested), negotiation and preparation of separation agreements, and resolution of problems about property division, custody, access, child and spousal support.
