

Criminal Defence Lawyers Chilliwack

Criminal Defence Lawyers Chilliwack - Technology-related companies turn to our legal firm specializing in technology law for services and advice. The growing field of technology law is vital within various fields, like e-commerce, computer hardware and software, multimedia, pharmaceuticals, biotechnology, telecommunication, television and film, broadcasting, interactive media, as well as Web-related businesses. Today's technology companies need professional recommendation suited to their unique needs.

Our company concentrates on technology law in the field of mergers, private and public financings, divestitures and acquisitions, technology transfers and licensing agreements. Clients seek out our services and our technology law experts for particular guidance connected to contract negotiation and other various transactions. Other services comprise employment audit and intellectual property, the preparation of agreements, like consulting and employment agreements, and agreements connected to technology promotion and distribution. Intellectual property protection concerns trade secrets, patents, copyrights, trade-marks and industrial designs. E-commerce issues include website development and infrastructure, maintenance agreements and internet access.

Working in conjunction with Commercial, Securities, Intellectual Property, tax & Trust and Labour and Employment lawyers, our lawyers to offer suggestion to technology clients on various corporate matters. Technology law experts work with private venture funds that offer capital to emerging technology companies.

In infringement situation, our litigation lawyers represent our clients interests before all levels of court related to trade secrets, patents, copyrights or trade-marks. Before the situations escalate, our teams of litigation lawyers act rapidly to resolve employment, intellectual property, contractual and financing disputes. The early identification of probable issues is a top priority. To avoid problematic matters related to unjust trade practices and false and misleading promotion, clients get advice regarding the legalities of advertising and the right marketing of products and services. Assistance is given on such legal issues as trade-mark registration and use, privacy, labeling and packaging, and comparative advertising.